- An application that fails to provide mandatory information (including payment), or provides incomplete or misleading information, will be treated as an incomplete application.
 - An incomplete application will be treated as 'not received' for the purposes of the legal profession legislation, and will be returned to the applicant. It will then be up to the applicant to decide whether or not to proceed with the application.
 - If the applicant wishes to proceed, the applicant will need to resubmit their application by completing the missing/incomplete information in their original application and redeclaring the same application.
- Until the requisite information is provided, the Law Society Council will not consider granting a registration certificate.
- If the applicant does not wish to proceed, the applicant may request to withdraw the application and may be refunded the application fees.
 - It is at the discretion of the Law Society Council whether to grant a registration certificate. Mere lodgement of an application form with the relevant fees does not entitle the applicant to commence practice.
